1. [redacted] phoned this morning to advise me that the Superintendent of Documents has decided not to reprint [redacted] or to offer it in the GPO sale program. The decision not to reprint was taken because of the cost involved and the prospect that Ballantine Press (New York) will publish all or part of the text in the Spring of 1982.

2. Instead, GPO will offer the 800 copies it has to libraries participating in the Federal Depository Library program on a first-come first-serve basis. To advise the libraries of the book's availability, next week GPO will publish in its biweekly "Admin Notes" the abstract we provided together with a notice that the book is available to the first 800 requesters along with an order coupon for those that are interested in responding.

3. GPO will also publish in its monthly catalogue a notice to the extent that the Agency has exhausted its supply of the book and should not be contacted by anyone who has failed to obtain a copy from GPO.

4. Finally, when the supply of 800 copies of the book has been exhausted, GPO will provide me with a list of the member libraries to which it has been disseminated.
